Explicación

Jobs

Here are some common jobs: a doctor, a nurse (enfermero/a), a teacher, a firefighter (bombero/a), a police officer, a vet (veterinario/a), a farmer, a chef (cocinero/a), a mechanic, an engineer, a journalist, a pilot, a shop assistant (dependiente) and a scientist.

In English we use a / an before a job: «She's a pilot», «He's an engineer». En castellano: decimos «es piloto» sin artículo, pero en inglés el a es obligatorio. Muchos trabajos sirven para hombres y mujeres: firefighter, police officer.

Job	Spanish
a nurse	enfermero/a
a firefighter	bombero/a
a vet	veterinario/a
an engineer	ingeniero/a

Where do they work? What do they do?

To ask about a job: «What does your mum do?» – «She's a vet». To say where: «She works in an animal hospital». We say works in a hospital / an office / a shop / a school, works on a farm and works at home / the airport.

To explain the job, use the present simple: «A firefighter puts out fires and rescues people», «A chef cooks food in a restaurant», «A journalist writes news». En castellano: recuerda la -s de la tercera persona.

a vet	works in an animal hospital
a farmer	works on a farm
a pilot	works on a plane
a writer	works at home

Hobbies and free time

Hobbies are activities we do for fun in our free time. Some go with play: play football, play chess, play the guitar, play video games. Some go with go + -ing: go swimming, go skating, go cycling, go hiking, go shopping. Some go with do: do karate, do gymnastics, do yoga, do puzzles.

Others: read comics, draw, paint, dance, sing in a choir, cook, take photos, collect stickers. En castellano: fíjate en que con los instrumentos se dice play the: «play the piano».

Likes and dislikes + -ing

After like, love, enjoy, don't mind and hate we use the verb with -ing: «I love dancing», «She enjoys reading», «I don't mind cleaning my room», «He hates getting up early».

From most to least: love → really like → like → don't mind (no me importa) → don't like → hate. Questions: «Do you like cooking?» – «Yes, I do!». En castellano: «me gusta bailar» se dice «I like dancing», con -ing, no «I like dance».

Good at, interested in

To talk about skills we say be good at + noun or -ing: «I'm good at drawing», «She's good at Maths», «I'm not very good at singing». To talk about interests: be interested in: «He's interested in space and planets».

Other useful expressions: be into (estar enganchado a): «I'm really into manga», and be a fan of: «I'm a big fan of basketball». En castellano: «se me da bien dibujar» = «I'm good at drawing».

How often?

To ask how often (con qué frecuencia) we say How often do you...? «How often do you go swimming?» – «Twice a week». Answers: every day, once a week (una vez a la semana), twice a month, three times a year, at the weekend, on Mondays.

Or use frequency adverbs: always, usually, often, sometimes, hardly ever, never. «I usually play tennis on Saturdays», «I hardly ever watch TV» (casi nunca).

When I grow up...

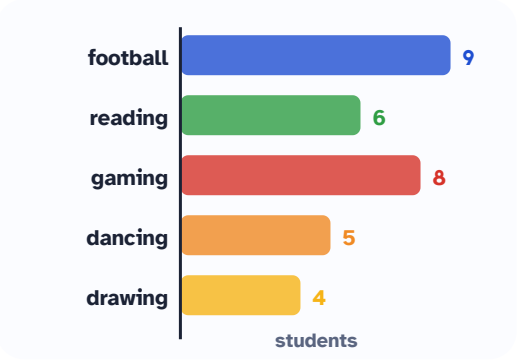

To talk about the future job we say I want to be… or I'd like to be… + a / an: «I want to be a marine biologist», «I'd like to be an architect». Give a reason with because: «…because I love animals and the sea».

Connect hobbies and jobs: «I'm good at drawing, so I'd like to be a designer». «I enjoy helping people, so I want to be a nurse». En castellano: «When I grow up» significa «cuando sea mayor».

Reading: a survey

Read the results of a class survey (encuesta): «In our class, 25 students answered. Football is the most popular hobby: nine students play it every week. Video games are second: eight students play them, but most only at the weekend. Six students love reading and five do dance classes. Four students are really good at drawing. When they grow up, three students want to be vets, two want to be teachers and one wants to be an astronaut!»

Let's practise: find someone who…

Walk around the class and ask questions. Find someone who: can play an instrument, is good at cooking, goes hiking at the weekend, hates getting up early, wants to be a scientist. Ask: «Do you go hiking?», «Are you good at cooking?».

Then write a short profile of a classmate: «Marta is eleven. In her free time she loves skating and she goes swimming twice a week. She's good at Science and she wants to be an engineer».

Find someone who...	Name
plays an instrument	Iker
is good at cooking	Sara hates mornings	Pau
wants to be a vet	Noa
